MINIMUM WAGE BOARD.

ORDER GOVERNING TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH OCCUPATION.

UPON the receipt of the recommendations from a Conference of representatives of employers and employees in the telephone and telegraph occupation, together with representatives of the public, called pursuant to the provisions of the "Minimum Wage Act," and held on the 21st day of August, 1919, which recommendations are as follows:—

"1. (a.) The minimum wage proper to the above occupation and adequate to supply the necessary cost of living to maintain an employee eighteen years of age or over that age is estimated by this Conference to be the sum of fifteen dollars ($15) a week.

(b.) That six (6) days shall constitute a week and eight (8) hours shall constitute a day, and every employee shall be entitled to one day off duty in seven (7); Provided, however, that in emergency cases fifty two (52) hours a week may be worked. Such overtime employment shall be paid at the rate of time and one-half.

"2. That skilled relief operators shall be paid at the same rate as set forth in the first recommendation—namely, fifteen dollars ($15) per week of forty-eight (48) hours. A fraction of a week's wage shall be computed upon a proportional basis.

"3. Where telegraph or telephone employees are customarily on duty between 10 p.m. and 8 a.m., ten (10) hours on duty shall be construed as the equivalent of eight (8) hours of work in computing the number of hours of employment a week.

"4. In the cases of operators residing on the company's premises, nothing contained in these recommendations shall prevent the company from making an arrangement with the employees to answer emergency calls between the hours of 10 p.m. and 8 a.m."

And this Board having approved all of the said recommendations, and having deemed it necessary and expedient for the welfare of the employees to make the following Order:

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, pursuant to the said Act, as obligatory on all persons:—

Interpretation.

1. That where used in this Order the following expressions shall have the following meanings respectively:—

(a.) "Employee" shall include every female person who is in receipt of or entitled to any compensation for labour or services performed for any employer:

(b.) "Employer" shall include every person, firm, or corporation, agent, manager, representative, contractor, sub-contractor, or principal, or other persons having control or direction of any employee in any trade, business, occupation, or calling, or responsible, directly or indirectly, for the wages of another:

(c.) "Telephone and telegraph occupation" shall include the work of all persons employed in connection with the operating of the various instruments, switchboards, and other mechanical appliances used in connection with telephony and telegraphy, and shall also include the work of all persons employed in the business or industry of the operation of the telephone or telegraph systems who are not governed by any other order of the Minimum Wage Board specifying a minimum wage.

Employees Eighteen Years of Age or over.

2. That, subject to the other provisions of this Order, the minimum wage for every employee in the telephone and telegraph occupation who is of the age of eighteen years or over that age (except women and apprentices to whom a special licence is issued under section 10 of the said Act) shall be the sum of fifteen dollars ($15) a week.

3. That, except as provided in clause 4 of this Order, the maximum hours of labour for every such employee shall be not more than eight (8) hours in any one day, nor more than forty-eight (48) hours in any one week; and every employee shall have one full day off duty in every week.

4. That, in the case of employees who are customarily on duty between the hours of 10 o'clock p.m. and 8 o'clock a.m., ten (10) hours on such duty shall be construed as the equivalent of eight (8) hours of labour in computing the number of hours of labour of such employees. In all cases where employees reside on the employer's premises, nothing contained in this Order shall prevent the employer from making an arrangement with such employees to answer emergency calls between the hours of 10 o'clock p.m. and 8 o'clock a.m. In cases of emergency the maximum hours of labour for an employee may be extended, but not to exceed in any case fifty-two (52) hours of labour in any one week, in which case the minimum wage for that employee during the time of labour in any week in excess of forty-eight (48) hours shall be one and one-half times the rate of minimum wage otherwise specified by this Order.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD.

CIRCULAR.

THE following provisions apply to the granting of licences under section 10 of the "Minimum Wage Act" in respect of the telephone and telegraph occupation:—

By section 10 (1) of the "Minimum Wage Act" the Minimum Wage Board is empowered to issue to women who are physically defective and to female apprentices special licences authorizing their employment in the telephone and telegraph occupation (being an occupation for which a minimum wage has been fixed) at a minimum wage less than the minimum wage fixed for the said occupation; the licences to remain in force for such period as is fixed by the Board.

Section 10 (2) of the said Act provides that the number of female employees holding special licences in any plant or establishment shall not exceed in number one-seventh of the whole number of female employees in that plant or establishment: Provided, however, that in any plant or establishment where less than seven female employees are employed, one apprentice holding a special licence may be employed.

Licences will be issued only in such cases where the Board is satisfied that the application therefor is made in good faith. Such applications must be in writing on forms which will be supplied by the Board free of charge.

The apprenticeship period is that period during which the employer is imparting knowledge and skill in the telephone and telegraph occupation and the apprentice is acquiring the same.

Assuming, therefore, that efficiency increases with experience, the Board has resolved to issue licences to such apprentices, based upon the following scale of minimum wages:—

Not less than $11 a week during the first three months' employment in such occupation.

Not less than $12 a week during the second three months' employment in such occupation.

Not less than $13 a week during the third three months' employment in such occupation.

Not less than $14 a week during the fourth three months' employment in such occupation.

In the case of girls under eighteen (18) years of age who are apprentices in the telephone and telegraph occupation no licence is required. Their wages are fixed by the Board by virtue of the power granted to it in section 11 of the Act.
